- Step 1: Identify the contract(s) with customer(s)

b. FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSACTION

Transactions in foreign currencies are translated to Naira at the foreign exchange rate ruling on the date of the transaction, monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the reporting date are retranslated to the functional currency at the exchange rate at that date. Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at fair value are retranslated to the functional currency at the exchange rate at the date that the fair value was determined. Foreign Currencies differences arising on retranslation are recognized in profit or loss.

c. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT

The company classified non derivative financial assets into loans and receivables. The company classified non-derivative financial liabilities into other financial liabilities category:

i. Non-derivative financial assets and financial liabilities

The company initially recognizes loans and receivables issued on the date when they are originated. All other financial assets and financial liabilities are initially recognized on the trade date at which the company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

The company derecognizes a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or it transfers the rights to receive the contractual cash flows in a transaction in which substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset are transferred, or it neither over the transferred asset. Any interest in such derecognized financial assets that is created or retained by the company is recognized as a separate asset or liability.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount presented in the statement of financial position when, and only when, the company has a legal right to offset the amounts and intends either to settle them on a net basis or to realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

ii. Non-derivative financial asset – measurement

Loans and Receivables

Loans and receivables are financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. Such assets are recognized initially at fair value plus any directly attributable transaction cost. Financial assets classified as loans and receivables are measured at amortized cost using effective interest method less any impairment losses.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand, cash balances with banks and call deposits with original maturities of three months or less. Bank overdrafts that are repayable on demand and form an integral part of the company's cash management are included as a component of cash and cash equivalents for the purpose of statement of cash flows.

iii. Non-Derivative Financial Liabilities – Measurement

Non-derivative financial liabilities are initially recognized at fair value less any directly attributable transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, these liabilities are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method. The company has the following non-derivative financial liabilities: loans and borrowings, bank overdraft, and trade and other payables. Such financial liabilities are recognized initially at fair value plus any directly attributable transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition these financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

Short term payables that do not attract interest are measured at original invoice amount where the effect of discounting is not material.

iv De-recognition of Financial Assets

Financial assets are derecognized when the contractual rights to receive the cash flows from these assets have ceased to exist or the assets have been transferred and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the assets are also transferred (that Is, if substantially all the risks and rewards have not been transferred, the Company tests control to ensure that continuing involvement on the basis of any retained powers of control does not prevent de-recognition). Financial liabilities are derecognized when they have been redeemed or otherwise extinguished.

iv. Offsetting Financial Instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an Intention to settle on a net basis or realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. The legally enforceable right must not be contingent on future events and must be enforceable in the normal course of business and in event of default, insolvency or bankruptcy of the Bank or the counterparty.

v. Impairment of Financial Assets

The Company assesses at the end of each reporting period whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset or a Company of financial assets is impaired. The impairment model In IFRS 9 is an expected loss model, which means that it is not necessary for a loss event to occur before an impairment loss is recognized. As a result, all financial assets generally carry a loss allowance.

vi. Expected Credit Loss (ECL)

Expected Credit Loss (ECL) is a probability-weighted estimate of credit losses- i.e. the present value of cash shortfalls - over the expected life of the financial instrument. For a financial asset that is credit-impaired, the ECLs are the difference between the asset's gross carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows. The assessment of ECLs is based on reasonable and supportable information that is, information reasonably available without undue cost or effort at the reporting date. Impairment is measured as either 12-month ECLs or lifetime ECLs, depending on whether there has been a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, then impairment is measured as lifetime ECLs. To assess whether there has been a significant increase in credit risk, the Company considers reasonable and supportable information that is available without undue cost or effort, and is relevant for the particular financial instrument being assessed.

The information used includes factors that are specific to the borrower and general economic conditions. Possible data sources include internal loss experience and ratings, and external ratings, reports and statistics. When the Company considers that there are no realistic prospects of recovery of the financial asset, the relative amounts are written off. If the amount of impairment loss subsequently decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognised, then the previously recognised impairment loss is reversed through profit or loss.

If, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognised (such as an Improvement in the debtor's credit rating), the reversal of the previously recognised Impairment loss (in profit or loss) is recognised in the profit or loss.

d. PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

i. Recognition and Measurement

Items of property, plant and equipment are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. Cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the assets. Property, plant and equipment under construction are disclosed as capital work-in-progress. The cost of construction recognized includes the cost of materials and direct labour, any other costs directly attributable to bringing the assets to a working condition for their intended use including, where applicable, the costs of dismantling and removing the items and restoring the site on which they are located and borrowing costs on qualifying assets.

Purchased software that is integral to the functionality of the related equipment is capitalized as part of the equipment. When parts of an item of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items (major components) of property, plant and equipment.

Gains and losses on disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment are determined by comparing the net proceeds from disposal with the carrying amount of property, plant and equipment, and are recognized net within other income in profit or loss.

ii. Subsequent Cost

The cost of replacing a component of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognized in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefit embodied within the component will flow to the company and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced component is derecognized. The cost of day-to-day servicing of the property plant and equipment is recognized in profit or loss as incurred.

iii. Capital work-in-progress//Construction-Work-in-Progress

Capital work-in-progress/Construction-Work-in-Progress is not depreciated. The attributable cost of each asset is transferred to the relevant asset category immediately the asset is available for use and depreciated accordingly.

iv. Depreciation

Items of property, plant and equipment are depreciated from the date they are available for use or, in respect of self-constructed assets, from the date that the asset is completed and ready for use. Depreciation rates, methods and the residual values underlying the calculation of depreciation of items of property, plant and equipment are kept under review to take account of any change in circumstances. When deciding on depreciation rates and methods, the principal factors the Company takes into account are the expected rate of technological developments and expected market requirements for, and the expected pattern of usage of, the assets.

Property, plant and equipment are subject to an impairment review if there are events or changes in circumstances which indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable, an impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. Depreciation is generally recognized in profit or loss, unless the amount is included in the carrying amount of another asset.

The estimated useful lives and methods of depreciation of significant items of property, plant and equipment for current and comparative years are as follows:

| Type of Asset | Useful Life |
|-------------------------------------|-------------|
| - Plant and Machinery | 7 |
| - Furniture, Fittings and Equipment | 5 |
| - Computer Equipment | 5 |
| - Generator | 5 |
| - Office Equipment | 5 |
| - Motor Vehicle | 5 |

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted if appropriate.

iv De-recognition

The carrying amount of an item of property, plant and equipment will be derecognized on disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal.

v Gain or loss on sale of property, plant and equipment

The gain or loss on the disposal of premises and equipment is determined as the difference between the carrying amount of the assets at the time of disposal and the proceeds of disposal and is recognized as an Item of other income in the period in which the significant risks and rewards of ownership are transferred to the buyer.

vi Prepayments and advances

Prepayments and advances are non-financial assets which result when payments are made in advance of the receipt of goods and services. They are recognized when the Company expects to receive future economic benefits equivalent to the value of the prepayments. The receipt or consumption of the services results in a reduction in the prepayment and a corresponding increase in expenses or assets for that reporting period.

vii Operating Profit

Operating profit is the result generated from the continuing principal revenue producing activities as well as other income and expenses related to operating activities. Operating profit excludes net finance costs and income taxes.

viii Statement of cash flows

The statement of cash flows is prepared using the indirect method. Changes in statements of financial position items that have not resulted in cash flows such as translation differences, fair value changes and other non-cash items, are eliminated for the purpose of preparing the statement. Dividends paid to ordinary shareholders are included in financing activities. Finance paid is also included in financing activities while interest income received Is included in investing activities.

ix Related Party

Related parties include the holding company and other group entities. Directors, their close family members and any employee who are able to exert a significant influence on the operating policies of the Company are also considered to be related parties. Key management personnel are those persons having authority and responsibility for planning, directing and controlling the activities of the entity, directly or indirectly, Including any director (whether executive or otherwise) of that entity.

x. Finance Income and Finance Costs

Finance income comprises interest income on funds invested. Finance income is recognised as it accrues in profit or loss, using the effective Interest method while finance Costs comprise Interest expense on borrowings and unwinding of the discount on provisions. Foreign currency gains and losses on financial assets and financial liabilities are reported on a net basis as either finance income or finance cost depending on whether foreign currency movements are in a net gain or net loss position.

e. INTANGIBLE ASSETS

1. Recognition and Measurement

Intangible assets that are acquired by the Company and have finite useful lives are measured at cost less accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses. The Company's intangible assets with finite useful lives comprise acquired accounting and engineering software.

2. Subsequent Expenditure

Subsequent expenditure is capitalized only when it increases the future economic benefits embodied in the specific intangible asset to which it relates. All other expenditure is recognized in profit or loss as incurred.

3. Amortization of Intangible Assets

Amortization is calculated to write off the cost of the intangible assets less its estimated residual value using the straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives or using the units of production basis from the date that they are available for use.

4. Derecognition of Intangible Assets

An intangible asset is derecognized on disposal, or when no future economic benefits are expected from use or disposal. Gains or losses arising from derecognition of an intangible asset, measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset are recognized in profit or loss when the asset is derecognized.

f. LEASED ASSET

Assets held under leasing arrangements that transfer substantially all the risks and reward of ownership to the company shall be capitalized. The interest element of the rental obligations will be charged to the profit or loss account and other comprehensive income over the period of the lease.

g. INVENTORIES

Inventories comprise of marine boards, cements, Iron rods, nails etc.

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost on a First In First Out basis and Net Realizable Value after making due allowances for normal losses arising from discharge of products. Net Realizable Value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less the estimated costs of completion and selling expenses.

h. INVESTMENTS

Investments are stated at cost less provision made for any permanent diminution in value.

i. Debtors

Debtors are stated net of provisions for bad and doubtful debts.

j. EMPLOYEE BENEFIT

i. Defined Contribution Plan

A defined contribution plan is a post-employment benefit plan under which the company pays fixed contributions into a separate entity. The company has no legal or constructive obligations to pay further contributions if the fund does not hold sufficient assets to pay all employees the benefits relating.

In line with the provisions of the Pension Reform Act 2014, the Company has instituted a defined contribution pension scheme for its permanent staff. Employees contribute 8% of their Basic salary, Transport and Housing Allowances to the Fund on a monthly basis. The company's contribution is 10% of each employee's Basic salary, Transport and Housing Allowances. Staff contributions to the scheme are funded through payroll deductions while the company's contribution is recognized in profit or loss as employee benefit expense in the periods during which services are rendered by employees.

ii. Short-Term Employee Benefits

Short-term employee benefit obligations are measured on an undiscounted basis and are expenses as the related service is provided. A liability is recognized for the amount expected to be paid under short-term cash bonuses if the company has a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee, and the obligation can be estimated reliably.

iii. Termination Benefits

Termination benefits are recognized as an expense when the Company is demonstrably committed to either:

Involuntary Termination – A detailed formal plan exists, specifying the affected employees, benefits to be provided, and the expected completion timeline. The Company must have no realistic possibility of withdrawing the plan.

Voluntary Termination (Employee Acceptance) – When an offer is made to encourage voluntary redundancy, termination benefits are recognized when the employee accepts the offer and the obligation becomes unavoidable. If termination benefits are expected to be settled within 12 months after the reporting period, they are classified as short-term employee benefits. Otherwise, they are discounted and recognized as long-term liabilities.

k. PROVISION AND CONTINGENT LIABILITIES

i. Provisions

A provision is recognized if, as a result of past event, the company has a present legal or constructive obligation that can be estimated reliably, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation. Provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The unwinding of the discount is recognized as finance cost.

ii Contingent Liabilities

A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the company, or a present obligation that arises from past events but is not recognized because it is not probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, or the amount of the obligation cannot be measured with sufficient reliability.

L. TAXATION

Income Tax expenses comprise current tax – company income tax and tertiary education tax, and deferred tax. Current and deferred tax is recognized in profit or loss except to the extent that it relates to items recognized directly in equity or in other comprehensive income.

i. Current Tax

Current Tax comprises Company Income Tax and Tertiary Education Tax. Current Tax is the expected tax payable or receivable on the taxable income or loss for the year in accordance with the, Finance Act (2023) as amended, Company Income Tax Act (2004), at 30% of taxable profit while Education Tax is assessed at 3% of assessable profit after adjusting for disallowable (Tax non-deductible) and non-taxable income such as dividend, investment income, interest etc.

ii. Deferred Tax

Deferred tax is recognised on temporary differences between the carrying amount of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax base used in computing taxable profit. Deferred tax liability is generally recognised for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax asset is generally recognised for all deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilized. Such deferred tax assets and liabilities are not recognised if the temporary differences arise from goodwill or from the initial recognition (other than in a business combination) of other assets and liabilities in a transaction that affects neither the taxable profit nor the accounting profit. The carrying amount of deferred tax asset is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset is realised, based on the tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. The measurement of deferred tax assets and liabilities reflect the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which The Company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of assets and liabilities. Current and deferred tax are recognised in the Statement of Profit or Loss except when they relate to items that are recognised in Other Comprehensive Income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognised in Other Comprehensive Income or directly in equity respectively. Where current tax or deferred tax arise from an initial accounting for a business combination, the tax effect is recognised in the accounting for the business combination

M Share Capital

An equity instrument is any contract that evidences a residual interest in the assets of an entity after deducting all of its liabilities. Ordinary shares are classified as equity Mandatorily; redeemable preference shares are classified as liabilities.

Dividends and Share issue costs
