- This Week's Select Summary Considerations:
- 10-Year US Treasury Yield:
 - Slightly bullish with a potentially lower yield
 - Yield presently remains in a sideways range between 2.3 – 2.6
 - Geopolitical uncertainties could cause the yield to drop below the 2.3 support area
- US Dollar Index:
 - More strength than weakness given global market uncertainties
 - Trading range developing between 95 -104
- CRB Index:
 - Cautiously bullish as Syrian and Middle East events unfold
 - Between Fed off-again and on-again accommodation and building uncertainties surrounding fiscal, trade and regulatory policy simulative activities, this key economic indicator has struggled
 - Bigger Picture: Global macro forces in general remain supportive, but are being tested
- $WTIC Light Crude Oil:
 - Light Crude Oil prices likely supported by Syrian and Middle East uncertainties and building potential Russian and U.S. military friction, and Chinese positioning
 - Bigger Picture: Global economic, social, political, and military uncertainties remain supportive of prices

Near Term Market Considerations Week Beginning April 10, 2017

Near Term Summary Considerations:

- Soybeans:
 - Either a price floor is in place or corrective price action follows before prices head lower
 - Fundamentals, Syrian and Middle East collateral damage and fiscal, monetary, trade and regulatory policy are presently all problematic near term for soybean prices until a price floor is in place
- Corn:
 - A tough week being dominated by Russian and Chinese response uncertainties surrounding Syrian and Middle East events
 - This week likely defines if price action is corrective or lower lows lie ahead
- Rice:
 - Price firmness on the back of the March 31, 2017 USDA Prospective Planting Report
 - Expanding rice acres beyond current planting expectations likely would put downside pressure on prices

$UST10Y – 10 Year US Treasury Yield

Monthly Charts - Presentation

This Week

Primary Consideration:

- We enter the week slightly bullish with a potentially lower yield, due to Syrian and Middle East uncertainties, U.S. and Russian military friction, and Chinese Syrian response unknowns. Near term yield remains in a sideways range between 2.3 – 2.6.
- This is a market that likely builds a trading range over the next one to two years with Global Government and Central Bank intervention and unfolding global events defining potential upside with a potential top at 3 to 3.25- possibly slightly higher, presently we may begin defining a potentially lower yield trading bottom
- As global events unfold (economic, political, social, etc.) chart activity will provide guidance
- Present market structure suggests financial institutions and borrowers are winners at these levels
- Some suggest the 35 year bull bond market will be over with a yield that holds above 2.6, others at 3.0; Actually, global fiscal, monetary, trade, and regulatory policy market intervention likely make picking these points very premature
- This is a market that could simply move sideways for a few years and even revisit the previous low or make a new low

CRB Commodity Index

Weekly, Daily and Monthly Charts

This Week

Primary consideration:

- Cautiously bullish as Syrian and Middle East events unfold
- Between Fed off-again and on-again accommodation and building uncertainties surrounding fiscal, trade and regulatory policy stimulative activities, this key economic indicator has struggled
- Bigger Picture: Global macro forces in general remain supportive, but are being tested
- A cautionary note -- The $CRB below 180 would be a dangerous near term negative and imply anemic domestic and global growth
- For the CRB Commodity Index to breakout will likely be a function of oil price leadership and/or broad commodity support, a reasonably stable to weaker dollar and belief and confidence in global fiscal, monetary, trade and regulatory policy leadership
