2025 Iowa Master Farmer Award

Call for Nominations

In March 1926, Wallaces Farmer started a program to honor a few farmers each year who assume leading roles in agriculture, citizenship and good family living. Those chosen for the award have been recognized for their achievements in "Good Farming, Clear Thinking and Right Living." The Iowa Master Farmer award is a sincere effort to honor top Iowa farmers who have devoted generously of their time and energy in building stronger communities and a better agriculture.

Neighbors, friends, family or business colleagues may nominate a Master Farmer candidate, or candidates may nominate themselves. Candidates can be individuals, couples or siblings farming in partnership. Candidates who do not receive the award the year they are nominated are welcome to be resubmitted in following years. The Iowa Master Farmer Foundation provides judges to select recipients.

Nominations due September 6, 2024

MASTER FARMER AWARD

The Iowa Farmer Master Farmer Award was established in 1926 to honor farmers with outstanding agricultural production skills, who also demonstrate extraordinary dedication to their communities. These individuals have demonstrated exceptional leadership within the Iowa agricultural community and their local communities.

Eligibility Criteria

- Candidates must farm in Iowa, deriving the majority of their income from agricultural production.
- Successful nominees will have proven agricultural production records, be recognized as leaders in their community, and will have given back to the community in substantive ways.
- Candidates may be individuals, couples or siblings; judging is equally weighted.
- Each nominee should be actively engaged in production agriculture.

Judging Committee

- A selection committee will be comprised of Iowa agricultural leaders, including: experts in agronomy and agricultural finance, past Master Farmers, agricultural research or university authorities, and Wallaces Farmer editorial staff.

Recognition

- Master Farmer winners will be recognized at the Master Farmer Awards Luncheon, held in March. Members of the new class will be announced on wallacesfarmer.com on March 1, and in the March issue of Wallaces Farmer.

Application Notes

- If a couple or siblings are being nominated, please assume each question pertains to both individuals and answer accordingly.
- All financial information remains confidential.
- In the event the nominee does not win, the application will be held and re-submitted the following year, for a maximum of three years. Please notify Wallaces Farmer if you would like to amend your nomination in subsequent years.

Guidelines for Nomination

- Submit completed nomination form.
- Attach a minimum of 4 letters of support, including at least one from a neighboring farmer.
- NOTE Please submit complete packages with all documents and letters of recommendation together – this is key for both physical and electronic submissions.

Applications due September 6, 2024 to:

Gil Gullickson
Editor, Wallaces Farmer
5919 Wistful Vista Drive
