Trend TALK

“Our Utopia trend embodies the need to create a calm and welcoming space for yourself and others.”

MARYANNE / HEAD OF DESIGN

In this very special edition of Loving Home, we welcome you to New Eden, our Design of the Year 2024. When creating our Design of the Year, we really wanted to highlight the need to create a calm and welcoming space for yourself and others, our Utopia trend is the embodiment of this. We wanted to highlight the healing and rejuvenating qualities of nature and the need to create calm and take the time to slow down in this bustling world.

As we look ahead with the planet in mind our mindsets begin to shift and we form deeper connections with nature, gardens have become an extension of the kitchen, bringing the outdoors in, and creating an essential entertaining area. With the powerful health benefits of biophilia and forest bathing we have captured this essence in New Eden to enable you to create these natural spaces indoors and ensure there is a welcoming environment for guests.

Viridis, our Colour of the Year 2024, is the perfect colour partner for New Eden as it creates such a calming effect with tones of new beginnings, perfect for entertaining. When choosing it, we wanted to continue the theme of the Utopia trend and began looking into colour psychology and the hues that bring calm and peace. Viridis, a soothing mid green hue reflects harmony and stability, enabling those in its vicinity to relax and revitalize. Viridis is the colour of growth and health, mirroring nature and expressing renewal and life. It evokes a feeling of abundance and a plentiful environment whilst also providing a restful and secure feeling. We see our homes as a haven, a place to spend time with family and friends, and this is the perfect hue to create welcoming colour palette.

Also in this issue, don't miss our new in designs for Autumn Winter, our chat to terrarium connoisseurs The Botanical Boys, and our delicious recipes ideas, including a special Viridis Pesto Pasta and the thirst-quenching Forbidden Fruit cocktail!

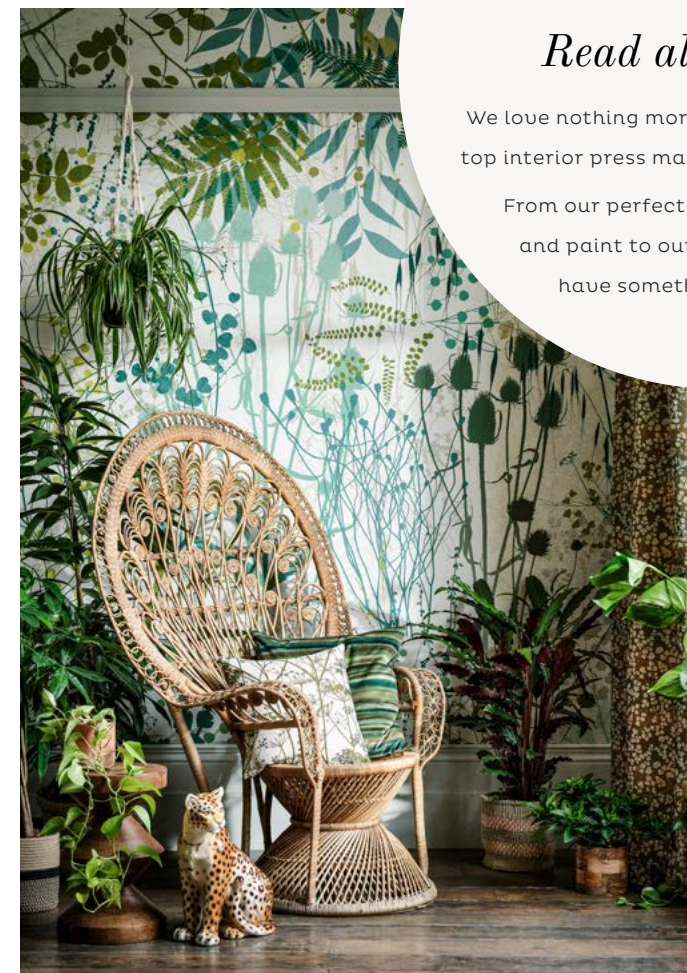

We hope you enjoy this special issue as much as we enjoyed creating it.

NEW EDEN BESPOKE MURAL perfectly partnered with
ADELINE PAINT & OPULENCE EMERALD CURTAINS

Welcome to a New Eden, proudly our Design of the Year for 2024. This dramatic forest scape is full of hidden treasures, pops of colour emerge through the design with yellow, orange, and pink tones complementing the emerald tree canopies. The design, available as wallpaper, made-to-measure window furnishings, and as a bespoke mural, will transform any room, perfectly partnering with our Colour of the Year, Viridis, or with our Adeline paint for a moodier atmosphere.

This year we are celebrating a Decade of Design, with the 2024 launch marking our 10th Design of the Year. As we reflect on the past ten years, we search for those moments that are precious to us. With that in mind the in-house design studio has focused on our 'Utopia' trend, creating a Utopian space led by a design that encourages welcoming and acceptance to all those who enter the home. Inspired by the Japanese art of Omotenashi, which centres around mindful hospitality - to wholeheartedly take care of guests without expectation or compensation. The Design of the Year has been created to offer a welcoming atmosphere and ultimately produce the perfect ambience in the home.

“We really wanted to highlight the need to create a calm and welcoming space for yourself and others and our Utopia trend is the embodiment of this,” explains Maryanne Cartwright, Head of Design at Graham & Brown. “As we look ahead with the planet in mind our mindsets begin to shift and we form deeper connections with nature, gardens have become an extension of the kitchen, bringing the outdoors in, and creating an essential entertaining area. With the powerful health benefits of biophilia and forest bathing we have captured this essence in New Eden to enable you to create these natural spaces indoors and ensure there is a welcoming environment for guests.”

Featuring a variety of lush leafy trees and trailing floral shrubbery, the lively hand painted design is full of flora and fauna, interspersed with exotic bird life and rocky terrain. The mostly green verdant palette is brought to life with vibrant shots of colour in the form of tree blossoms and sprawling florals. The colours are friendly and welcoming, creating a neutral and affectionate feature that can also be bold and creative. The deep green tones introduce depth to the design, whilst the use of golden, blue, and rusty hues add a playful pop of colour.

With the powerful health benefits of biophilia and forest bathing becoming more apparent, we have captured this essence in the design to welcome those healing feelings into our homes. Viridis is the perfect colour partner as it creates such a calming effect with tones of new beginnings – perfect for entertaining.

A beautiful muted green colour, the Colour of the Year 2024 has been conscientiously curated to create a warm and welcoming space, offering a calming atmosphere for its guests. Viridis is a complex yet flexible hue, adding depth to a space and blurring the lines between the outside and inside, it is a natural and uplifting shade, providing an inventive alternative to the greige interior schemes.

Viridis is the perfect embodiment of the fertile green hills around us. It can be used in small cosy spaces to create a calming effect or in larger rooms to transform the space into a sophisticated yet relaxing environment. It is especially perfect for the entertaining and entrance areas where outside and inside meet.

Celebrating A DECADE OF DESIGN

With this year marking our 10th Design of the Year, we are taking the time to reflect on a decade of design.

2015 marked the start of our annual tradition with our first Design of the Year, Northern Rose. This elegant design has a quintessential British charm with classic florals and a pink and blue colour palette. Our next Design of the Year, Marble was bang on trend in 2016, with a contemporary marble texture and deep moody colour palette. Continuing to follow the trends, Reflections was our Design of the Year 2017. This geometric design features the rose golds and millennial pinks that defined this era.

Our Design of the Year 2018 Pierre Pink is a feminine floral with more hints of muted pink and a twist of metallic gold in the background. Tori Teal marked the end of the 2010s as our Design of the Year 2019. This delicate floral design still stands the test of time with a classic teal colour palette and elegant birds

During the year of the pandemic, our Design of the Year 2020 Bloomsbury Neo Mint brought a much-needed brightness and optimism to our homes with pastel florals and elegant butterflies. 2021 marked the year of our 75th anniversary and we celebrated with Timepiece Amethyst. This design features archival florals with a geometric twist in a regal plum colour palette.

After a tumultuous start to the decade, Restore Midnight was the perfect design to create a calming environment with misty blues and silhouettes of nature. Last year we made the old new with an archival design refreshed for the modern home. Florenzia Dusk is a classic floral that has made its impact over the last year.

After a decade of design, we now welcome you to New Eden, Design of the Year 2024. This design encapsulates the trends to come in the year ahead and represents growth and new beginnings.

In conversation with THE BOTANICAL BOYS Founders Darren Henderson and Ben Nel

WHERE DID THE IDEA COME FROM?

It began as a hobby, building fish bowl terrariums with succulents around a small dining table. It is such a fun way to spend time - forming a mini landscape, and we made little scenes to remind us of our holidays to South Africa. It became a way of focusing on something creative after a long day at our 9-5 office jobs.

Darren took some in to his office to dress his desk and his colleagues started to enquire about them. We joined an online education platform and put together a lesson plan and we started getting booking enquiries. 6 years later we are still teaching this fascinating subject and helping to connect thousands of people across the city to nature.

WHAT WAS THE BIGGEST HURDLE YOU OVERCAME?

Opening our first shop in Kings Cross was a scary prospect - moving our classes from the dining table at home to a public space. We've also built a lot of supply chains and networks around the world to bring unique old treasures to our range, which was a massive hurdle in many ways - navigating the entire process of containment shipping and storage solutions.

The key thing we learned in overcoming new challenges is the importance of building strong relationships with your supply chain and people around you.

WHAT WELLNESS BENEFITS DO TERRARIUMS HAVE?

There are huge wellness benefits in building terrariums and planting living plants. The terrarium experience encourages focus and creative thinking. Our planting classes help people learn about plant care, which in turn gives confidence and knowledge when considering buying plants.

A terrarium has visual intrigue and the science of plants in enclosed containers is always a great talking point. Our team produce a vast range of terrarium landscapes and styled plants in old vintage pots at our Kings Cross store to help impact your home in a beautiful way.

WHY SHOULD PEOPLE BRING NATURE INTO THE HOME?

Having nature around us has many positive mental health benefits and our bespoke pots have a particular visual impact on the aesthetic of an interior.

“Our kits saved us through Covid times and being able to teach people online was a positive period in those darker and difficult times we all faced.”

Plants provide oxygen and air purifying qualities which are great for keeping our air clean, such as the Sansevieria plant, one of NASA's top ten chosen plants for air purifying qualities. The very act of nurturing your plants also has many positive benefits to us when we see them thrive in our homes.

WHERE DO YOU FIND YOUR INSPIRATION?

We find planting inspiration from our travels around Africa and we source plants we love from UK and European growers. We love using old vessels from around the world and re-purposing them by pairing with sculptural plants. Our plant styling service connects people to our unique designs that are perfectly suited to modern interior designs, for example we use 200 year old wooden mortars from rural parts of Asia and pair them with a cultural planting.

TELL US A LITTLE BIT ABOUT THE PROCESS BEHIND CREATING AND CARING FOR TERRARIUMS.

A terrarium is a self-sustaining eco system that requires several layers of organic materials to help its natural cycle kick start. For example, we use small clay pellets for the base layer, providing an all-important air pocket draining layer in the glass terrarium. Each layer built has a purpose before plants are placed. We've recently developed bespoke terrarium kits with a self paced guide.

Part of our learning has lead us to create our very own bespoke substrate mix (terrarium soil), which we mix in-house to enable the most sustainable environment for the plants. Our kits, launched as a way to connect people to nature at home, are made from recycled cardboard and our labelling uses vegetable inks.

“The collection combines cosy colour palettes of rich blues, wine reds and soft neutrals, with striking designs inspired by nature’s beauty.”

For a bedroom you can truly unwind in during the longer evenings, we recommend brightening up your walls with our Esther Stone design. Featuring a soft beige colour palette and wildflower silhouettes, this design works beautifully with other neutrals - we recommend our Reecho Neutral curtains for the perfectly partnered look.

With a classic navy colour palette and dainty leaves, our Salix Leaves Navy wallpaper is a timeless design. We love using this design with panelling and matching blue décor in a living room.

With swirls of elegant metallic detail and a soft beige colour palette, our Ambire Neutral is a unique design that will add intrigue to your walls whilst remaining neutral. This design will work in most rooms, but we especially love it in a bedroom for a calming effect.
