RECOMMENDED MINIMUM INVESTMENT TERM

FUND OBJECTIVE

The fund aims to remain fully invested at all times to generate sustainable pre-tax income whilst growing the original capital invested.

WHO IS THIS FUND FOR?

This fund is suitable for investors seeking exposure to the property market without the potential difficulties and capital outlay of direct property investments. The investor can accept the volatility of investing in the property sector.

INVESTMENT MANDATE

The fund invests in a selection of listed South African commercial and industrial property shares. Income is derived from property shares that offer a secure and an escalating income stream. Capital growth comes from quality shares that show potential for an upward share price movement.

REGULATION 28 COMPLIANCE

The fund aims to offer exposure to a specific asset class, and may hold a higher allocation to equities and a greater exposure to a single equity than what is allowed in terms of Regulation 28 of the Pension Funds Act. This fund is therefore not Regulation 28 compliant.

FUND COMMENTARY

The fund's benchmark, the FTSE/JSE All Property Index, bounced strongly in the second quarter with a total return of 18.7%. This was better than the All Bond Index (+9.9%) and general retailers (13.7%) but lower than the All Share Index (+23.2%). Initial indications of the collection rates and liquidity positions of some listed funds over the lockdown period may have been better than many market participants had feared.

This strong performance has to be seen in the context of a terrible first quarter with the onset of Covid-19 lockdowns, where the sector lost almost one half of its value. Over the past 12 months the All Property Index is still down by 40.2%. This compares badly to the returns of the All Share Index (-3.3%), the All Bond Index (+2.9%) and general retailers (-36.2%). We struggle to understand why listed property has performed so much worse compared to some domestic sectors, which are also exposed to the local economy and have greater operational gearing.

The fund outperformed its benchmark after fees by a wide margin. This is cold comfort given the level of capital destruction experienced by investors. The fund was positioned conservatively for economic and consumer stress and with avoidance of high gearing, financing and operational risk. The fund will continue to hold meaningful positions in a diversified selection of property shares we believe offer the most long-term value with consideration of the relative outlook and risk.

The coronavirus impact will remain a threat for property companies following the lockdown period, when many tenants did or could not pay rent. Some tenants will fail, downsize, require rent reductions for longer or go into business rescue, which is unfriendly to property owners. Pre-existing sector negative trends like online shopping and work from home (aka live at work) may be exacerbated. We maintain direct property valuations were overstated even before the crisis and a few companies may fall foul of debt covenant in time.

It has been our view that many real estate investment trusts (REITs) should not pay a dividend or pay a reduced dividend and rather repair their balance sheets and de-gear. A growing number of companies have announced just that. Management should not let a good crisis go to waste, and should use this turmoil to rebase to a responsible level of dividends from which they can grow sustainably.

On traditional valuation metrics like yield, yield spread to bonds and discount to net asset value (NAV), the sector looks incredibly cheap. With earnings levels and valuations so uncertain, these measures cannot be relied upon. On an implied value per metre squared, domestic property is well below replacement cost.

There is much long-term value in the sector but you can no longer buy REITs for high income on a short-term perspective, as conditions will remain very tough for some time. You can buy property for the recovery and intrinsic value looking through the cycle and the good total return this will provide over time.

TER is a historic measure of the impact the deduction of management and operating costs has on a fund's value. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER, which includes the annual service fee, may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. Transaction Cost (TC) is a necessary cost in administering the fund and impacts fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.

We aim to treat our clients fairly by giving you the information you need in as simple a way as possible, to enable you to make informed decisions about your investments.

- We believe in the value of sound advice and so recommend that you consult a financial planner before buying or selling unit trusts. You may, however, buy and sell without the help of a financial planner. If you do use a planner, we remind you that they are entitled to certain negotiable planner fees or commissions.
- You should ideally see unit trusts as a medium- to long-term investment. The fluctuations of particular investment strategies affect how a fund performs. Your fund value may go up or down. Therefore, we cannot guarantee the investment capital or return of your investment. How a fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.
- The fund fees and costs that we charge for managing your investment are disclosed in this Minimum Disclosure Document (MDD) and in the table of fees and charges, both of which are available on our public website or from our contact centre.
- Additional information of the proposed investment, including brochures, application forms and annual or quarterly reports, can be obtained, free of charge, from Old Mutual Unit Trust Managers (RF) (Pty) Ltd, from our public website at www.oldmutualinvest.com or our contact centre on 0860 234 234.
- Our cut-off time for client instructions (e.g. buying and selling) is at 15:00 each working day for all our funds, except the Money Market Funds, the price of which is set at 13:00. These are also the times we value our funds to determine the daily ruling price (other than at month-end when we value the Old Mutual Index Funds and Old Mutual Multi-Managers Fund of Funds range at 17:00 close). Daily prices are available on the public website and in the media.
- Unit trusts are traded at ruling prices, may borrow to fund client disinvestments and may engage in scrip lending. The daily ruling price is based on the current market value of the fund's assets plus income minus expenses (NAV of the portfolio) divided by the number of units on issue.
- Specialist equity funds may hold a greater risk as exposure limits to a single security may be higher.
- The Net Asset Value to Net Asset Value figures are used for the performance calculations. The performance quoted is for a lump sum investment. The performance calculation includes income distributions prior to the deduction of taxes and distributions are reinvested on the ex-dividend date. Performances may differ as a result of actual initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Annualised returns are the weighted average compound growth rates over the performance period measured. Performances are in ZAR and as at 30 June 2020.
